The Unforgiving Servant

Peter asked Jesus, "How many times must I forgive someone who does wrong to me? Seven times?"

Use the graph to find the answer.

Jesus said, " _____, _____ A2 B2

Jesus told a parable about an unmerciful servant. The story is all here, but the pages are all mixed up. First, answer each math problem. Write the answer to the problem. Then organize the pages in order from the lowest answer to the highest. Number the pages in the corner from 1 to 12. Read the story in order.

The master ordered that he and his family and possessions be sold to repay the debt.

$9 \times 3 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The other servant begged on his knees for him to be patient.

$81 + 6 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The master had pity and canceled the debt!

$45 + 2 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The other servants were upset at what happened. They told their master.

$102 + 5 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The kingdom of heaven is like a king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants.

$6 + 1 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The master turned him over to the jailers until he repaid all he owed!

$121 + 6 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The same servant went out and found a fellow servant who owed him a few dollars.

$62 - 5 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The master called the unmerciful servant in. He was angry because the servant had been given a chance, but he didn't do this for the other.

$120 - 3 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The man got on his knees and begged the master to be patient with him.

$40 - 3 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

A man was brought to him who owed 10,000 talents - a lot of money!

$9 + 8 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

He grabbed him and began to choke him, and said, "Pay back what you owe me."

$11 \times 7 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$

The first servant had the man thrown into prison until he could pay the debt.

$105 - 8 = \underline{\hspace{2cm}}$
